Weather and current:

La Rochelle, situated on the Ocean, is spared the summertime heat waves known in other climates. This effect is enhanced by the sea breezes common in summer. The maximum temperatures in summer range between 22 and 25°C in average. The temperature of the water is about 20°C in the narrows and 22°C along the coast. Charente-Maritime gets more sunshine than anywhere else on the Atlantic seaboard; indeed, the amount of sunshine is comparable to that of Perpignan on the Mediterranean.

The main currents in the region are tidal. These vary according to tidal predications.
